Artist: Scooter Lee
Song: Ribbon Of Highway

Rolling down that ribbon of highway
I've gone another mile, another day
Going places I ain't never been
Seeing things I'll never see again
But I'm gonna keep on keeping on
Till the memories leave me alone
And the pain I felt is finally gone
Then I'll make my way back home

So many years I kept it all inside
Wrecked my emotions and wounded my pride
Feeling guilty over leaving you
Blaming myself for things that I didn't do
Now that it's over and so perfectly clear
It's amazing that I'm even here
I'll carry scars that no one will see
But my sole is finally free

Everyday just a little brighter
I grow stronger with every step I take
I had to fight for this survivor
Oh, I've come a long, long way

Rolling down that ribbon of highway
I've gone another mile, another day
Going places I ain't never been
Seeing things I'll never see again
But I'm gonna keep on keeping on
Till the memories leave me alone
And the pain I felt is finally gone
Then I'll make my way back home
